“ Jason was a great coworker and was very patient when I needed help running assays in the COHR lab at UK. On occasion, we would walk to lunch at nearby Thai or Mediterranean restaurants near UK...he would always tell me to slow down. For CCTS chili potlucks, he was one of the few who enjoyed my chili with vegetables - he called it "garbage chili". Over the years, several of us that had worked in Nephrology with Jason would meet for lunch on occasion, as well. it was always good to get away from work. I will miss Jason and will miss not being able to ask him work-related questions or touch base with him.

Rest in Peace Jason
