“ One memory that always makes me smile is when the old house was still there...Mamaw was one of those people that swung on you if she got startled and all of us kids, at one time or another, would always try to be the one to scare her and get away before we got smacked. But she was quicker than we were most of the time! I'm gonna miss her so much... I love you Mamaw

“ Of always threatening to kick our butts, but very seldom did. When we played hide go seek she would play, how she always made me take the turpenhydrate everytime I coughed which was always. How she would sit out in the yard and and watch us learn how to twirl those stupid guns, and laugh ever time I broke one. How I could be in the store and she would sneak up behind me just to here me scream shit, just so she could give me a lecture on saying the word. I have so many memories, and will love and miss her.

“ I have so many memories with her I don't even know where to begin. She was not only my grandma but my best friend. She was the one that took me on my first plane ride from Ohio to Missouri. She was the one who took me to the zoo for the first time. I always helped her with holiday dinners. I love this woman with everything in me. I love and miss you so much Mamaw!!
